Raise your profile in the Precision Liquid Handling community

Join us for the Precision Liquid Handling Workshop*, a one-day event co-organized by CSEM and Toolpoint, bringing together experts from biotech, pharma, diagnostics, automation, and research. As demand grows for ultra-precise liquid handling, innovations in robotics and microfluidics are transforming labs—cutting costs, reducing reagent use, and enabling breakthroughs.

The workshop features keynotes, innovation pitches, and interactive discussions, exploring:

- Adoption of new technologies in clinical and regulated settings
- Scalable product development for modern lab needs
- Solutions to technical and integration challenges

Whether you're advancing automation or launching new tools, this is your chance to connect, share, and shape the future of precision liquid handling.

CSEM and Toolpoint look forward to seeing you there!
